BIRDS OF A FEATHER (SHOW FLICKS TOGETHER)
Cape Ann Community Cinema and CinemaSalem join forces for the (un)common good

Cape Ann Community Cinema in Gloucester and CinemaSalem in Salem – the two coolest independent cinemas on Boston's North Shore – have joined forces to promote their respective line-ups of alternative cinematic programming.

“It's a natural for us,” notes Cape Ann Community Cinema's creative director, Robert Newton, “considering that CinemaSalem provided us with some of the inspiration to open our theater in the first place.”

“We're always sending patrons to each other anyway,” says CinemaSalem's manager, Kereth Cowe-Spigai. “Now it's official – we are 'sister cinemas.'”

The single-screen, living room-style Cape Ann Community Cinema opened in 2008, and the 4-screen miniplex CinemaSalem was launched in 2006 on the site of the former Patriot Cinemas. In August 2012, the CACC opened a second screen called Film Haven at 11 Pleasant Street in Gloucester.

Both entities are acclaimed by patrons and press alike, with the famous CACC supporter Liv Ullmann saying of her home-away-from-home, “Bergman would have loved this place!”, and CinemaSalem's patron base voting it “Best North Shore Movie Theater.”
